Installment stock as herein referred to shall be such stock as may be paid for in regular installments to continue for a specified time or until the amount paid in, together with the accumulated profits allotted thereto, reaches its matured value, or is withdrawn, canceled or forfeited; such stock may be issued in series, and when so issued, payment of dues on shares in each series shall commence with the issue of shares in such series. No shares of a prior series shall be issued after the issue of shares of a new series.

Prepaid stock shall be stock upon which the owners shall have paid to the corporation any specific sum in advance at the time of subscription, leaving the balance necessary to mature the same, to be paid out of the profits thereafter apportioned to such stock by the corporation and not withdrawn by the owner.

Paid-up stock shall be such stock as the owner shall have paid therefor the full face value at the time of subscription and upon which he shall be entitled to either a full participation in the profits of the corporation or an agreed rate of interest in lieu thereof.

Guarantee stock shall be stock provided by the by-laws to be set apart and sold as a fixed permanent or guarantee capital; when any such stock has been once so set apart, sold and issued, it shall remain thereafter as a fixed permanent and guarantee capital, and shall be subject to all such conditions and liabilities attaching to the paid-in capital stock of other classes of corporations. Such guarantee stock shall be chargeable with all of the losses which may arise from the depreciation of security or otherwise, except expenses; such guarantee capital stock shall be chargeable with all the costs of all real estate acquired under foreclosure or other proceedings, and shall be credited with the amount realized upon such real estate when sold.

Every such corporation heretofore or hereafter organized under the provisions of this title, shall have power, by its by-laws, to charge an entrance or admission fee for each share of stock issued, not exceeding two dollars on each share, and also to charge a transfer fee not exceeding ten cents on each share, but no fee whatever shall be charged on withdrawal. Each shareholder shall pay to the corporation, upon each share of installment stock held by him, such amount of dues as the by-laws or certificates of stock shall provide, and the payment of dues shall so continue on each share of stock issued for the full term provided in the by-laws, until the amounts so paid in as dues, together with the accumulations and profits reach its matured value, or is withdrawn, canceled or forfeited. The shares of stock may be issued in yearly, half-yearly, quarterly or monthly series, or in such other manner as may be provided for in the by-laws, in such amounts and at such times as shall be determined by the board of directors. All stock matured, surrendered, or canceled, shall become the property of the corporation and may be re-issued. Payment of dues on shares of serial stock shall commence from the time the shares begin to be issued in such series, and each certificate of stock shall contain a tabulated statement of its minimum cash surrender value on each anniversary of its issue, and from and after four years from the date of its issuance.

635. The funds of any such corporation may be loaned to members or others, at such rates of interest as may, from time to time, be fixed by resolution of the board of directors. For every loan made a note or obligation secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust upon unincumbered real estate shall be given, and in no case shall a loan upon real estate exceed seventy-five per cent of the actual cash value of such real estate, and provided, however, that the stock or certificates of investment of members may be accepted as security for loans in an amount not to exceed ninety per cent of the book value of such stock or certificate of investment. Any borrower shall, after one year from the date of such loan on real estate, have the right to repay the same and shall be entitled to a credit upon the amount originally borrowed, of all sums paid in excess of agreed expenses incurred in connection with such loan, and the accrued interest. Such corporations may, at their option, require the borrower, at the time of repayment, if paid before maturity, to pay a sum of advance interest not to exceed in amount three months interest upon the balance due at the time of repayment. And provided further, that when any borrower from such corporation who shall have executed to it a mortgage or deed of trust as herein referred to, shall desire to repay the same, such corporation may, at its option, if such loan be repaid between the first Monday in March and the last Monday in November, charge a sum of advance interest not to exceed in amount six months' interest upon the balance due at the time of repayment. The loans herein provided for may be made for a definite time on the installment plan. The number of installments in which the loan with accrued interest is to be repaid must be stated in the instrument evidencing such loan and no conditions shall be imposed upon the borrower other than those inserted in such instrument, and when the payments have been made in accordance with the said instrument or contract, the borrower shall be entitled to a release of the security given by him as herein provided.

636. Not more than one third of the receipts of the corporation shall be applicable to the payment of matured or withdrawing shares without the consent of said board. The order of the payment of matured shares shall be determined by the by-laws.

Whenever any non-borrowing member shall be six months in arrears in the payment of his dues upon installment stock the secretary shall give him notice thereof in writing, and a statement of his arrearages, by mailing the same to him at the last postoffice address given by him to the association, and if he shall not pay the same within two months thereafter, the board of directors may, at their option, declare his shares forfeited, and at the time of such forfeiture, the withdrawal value thereof shall be determined and stated, and the defaulting member shall be entitled to withdraw the same without interest, upon such notice as shall be required of a withdrawing stock. Whenever a borrowing member shall be in arrears in the payment of his dues, or interest, the whole loan shall become due at the option of the board of directors, and they may proceed to enforce collection upon the securities held by the association. The withdrawal value at the time of exercising such option, of all shares pledged as collateral security for the loan, shall be applied to the payment of the loan, and said shares from that time shall be deemed surrendered to the association.

637. If the guarantee capital hereinafter provided for shall not equal five per cent of the loans of such corporation, then at each apportionment of profits the directors shall set aside as a reserve fund not less than five per cent of the net profits accrued since the last prior apportionment and shall continue so to do until said fund shall amount to at least five per cent of the loans in force, at which figure said fund shall thereafter be maintained. Said reserve fund shall at all times be available to meet losses arising from depreciation of assets or from other sources.

A minor may hold shares, certificates of investment, or deposit moneys with any such corporation, and the payment to said minor of any sums deposited by him on stocks, certificates of investment, or otherwise on the receipt by him to said corporation for the same, shall have the same force and effect as a release to said corporation as though the same were made by an adult.

At least annually all profits or losses shall be apportioned, and such apportionment shall be based on the actual amount of dues received by any such corporation upon certificates of stock or certificates of investment, and such dues shall commence to participate in such profits within thirty days after the date of payment to any such corporation.

638. Every building and loan association or corporation governed by this act heretofore or hereafter incorporated, shall deposit and keep with the Secretary of State or with some duly authorized trust company of this State and approved by the officials having jurisdiction over such corporations, in trust for all its members and creditors, all mortgages or other securities received in the usual course of business, except notes given by members on account of advances upon investment stock or certificates. When deposited with the trust company, such company shall certify to the official having jurisdiction over such corporations the possession of such securities and the same shall not be surrendered without the authority or sanction of such officials; provided, that whenever required by the laws of any other state, territory or nation, all securities taken in such state, territory or nation, by any corporation organized under the laws of this State and subject to the provisions of this act, may be deposited with some officer authorized to receive the same in such state, territory or nation, under the laws thereof, for the benefit of its members and creditors, but in every such case the certificate of such deposit, showing the amount and character of such deposit, shall be filed with the officials having jurisdiction over such corporations in this State, and renewed annually, together with a statement verified by the affidavit of some officer of such corporation who has knowledge of the facts showing all of the securities taken by such corporation in such state at the time of filing of such certificate; and in case any security taken in such state, territory or nation, are not deposited there, then the same shall be deposited in the State of California as required by this act.

CONSIDERATION OF REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Senator Carter asked for and was granted unanimous consent to have the following report of special committee taken up for immediate consideration.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee appointed to investigate the financial system of the University of California, in accordance with the resolution providing for such investigation, respectfully report as follows:

That said committee held a meeting on the 2d and 3d days of February, 1906, at Berkeley, California, and received evidence, both oral and documentary, touching the financial system now and heretofore employed by the Regents of the University of California; that all of the business and matters pertaining to the financial affairs of said University are under the immediate management of a sub-committee of the regents, known as the "Finance Committee"; that the funds of said institution are made up from the following sources, to wit:

1. The Seminary Fund and Public Building Fund, granted to the State by Congress.
2. The property received from the College of California, including the site at Berkeley.
3. The fund derived from the congressional land grant of July 2, 1862.
4. The Tide Land Fund, appropriated by the State.
5. Various appropriations by the State Legislature for specified purposes.
6. The State University Fund, which is a perpetual endowment derived from a State tax of two cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.
7. The Endowment Fund of the Lick Astronomical Department.

8. The United States Experiment Station Fund of $15,000 a year.
9. The Morrill College Aid Fund, yielding in the current year $25,000.
10. The gifts of individuals.
11. Fees collected from students for certain laboratory and gymnasium privileges.

Prior to January 1, 1903, under the regulations of the said Board of Regents, it was provided that all funds except student fees and moneys received on insurance policies in cases of the payment of loss, should be paid directly to the treasurer of said Board of Regents—an officer elected by said board—and that all the payments of student fees, as aforesaid, and moneys received on insurance policies in case of loss, were to be paid to the secretary of said Board of Regents; that the secretary of the said Board of Regents is a statutory office provided for in Section 1449 of the Political Code, which requires the following qualifications, to wit: a practical agriculturist, competent to superintend the working of the agricultural farm and to discharge the duties of secretary of the Board of Regents. That on the 12th day of July, 1898, W. A. McKowen was elected acting secretary of the Board of Regents, and for a year and a half discharged the duties of that office in place of E. W. Davis, the secretary, who was on leave of absence. On the 14th day of April, 1898, McKowen was duly elected secretary of said Board of Regents, and acted as such secretary until on or about the 19th day of December, 1903; that during the term of office of said McKowen as acting secretary and secretary of said board, contrary to the rules and regulations of the said Board of Regents, the said secretary received various and large sums from persons making donations, which he did not account for, aggregating $38,171.68, and $15,807.18 students' fees received in cash, making a total of $51,478.76.

The report of the finance committee to the Board of Regents, made on the 12th of April, 1904, respecting the defalcation of said secretary, is as follows:

"Your finance committee begs leave to submit the following report of the defalcation of your late secretary, W. A. McKowen. Upon the discovery of his dishonesty in office, and after consultation with President Wheeler, the firm of Knight, McLaren & Goode were employed to expert the books, and the statements as herein made are summarized from the exhaustive reports submitted by that firm. We append the following excerpts from their various statements:

"A. In the late secretary's account no irregularities have come to light as regards disbursements and the whole amount of his shortage represents the misappropriation of moneys received. Up to the present time, we have established beyond question a deficiency of $51,478.76.

"B. At the beginning of the defalcation the secretary appears to have used the cash which came in by way of students' deposits, holding out, until some time after their receipt, checks which had come into his hands—ultimately depositing them with the treasurer to make up the proper amount of students' deposits and other similar income and crediting them to the account to which they belonged when he had come into possession of other funds.

"C. The system seems to have been that, when the statements rendered monthly by the treasurer were received at the office, then and not until then, the receipts of money during the month were entered in the cash book.

"These receipts included students' deposits, fees, and money received from other sources which had been paid into the secretary's office at Berkeley and later deposited with the treasurer, but it appears that the late secretary never kept any record of this in permanent form, making his distributions when the treasurer's account came in either from the stubs of receipts or loose memoranda or from memory.

"D. All of the savings banks deposits, being the investments of certain of the funds, have been found to be intact.

"The total appropriation of moneys received from the medical department amounted to $56,841.12; of this amount, $9,703.38, in form of checks and warrants, was deposited with the treasurer, but credited to other accounts, from which money had been stolen, presumably by deduction, from students' deposits.

"The other accounts from which moneys were retained are as follows:

Levi Strauss scholarships.....	$1,750 00
But check was deposited with treasurer as a credit to students' deposits in place of proper account.....
D. O. Mills, Lick Observatory Fund.....	6,000 00
Emanu-El Fellowship.....	500 00
Martha A. Hallidie.....	500 00
Alumni Hall Fund.....	1,000 00
Class of 1886 Loan Fund.....	153 00
Class of 1903 Loan Fund.....	180 15
Wilmerding School.....	349 52
Contingent Fund.....	19 70
P. A. Hearst Scholarships.....	4,800 00
$1,200 of this amount was deposited with the treasurer to cover embezzlements of students' deposits.....
Department of Anthropology.....	5,522 90
$2,653.80 of this amount was deposited with the treasurer to cover embezzlement of students' fees.....
Hearst donation to Medical Department.....	600 00
Hearst donation to Lick Observatory.....	500 00

"Aside, therefore, from a bookkeeping proposition, it will appear from the foregoing that $15,307.18 was embezzled from students' fees in cash, and the balance of $36,171.58 from various donated funds.

"The checks which were cashed by McKowen were made out as follows:

"All checks from the medical department to W. A. McKowen, acting secretary or secretary.

"Warrants on treasurer in favor of medical department, made out to A. A. D'Ancona, and by him indorsed to W. A. McKowen, secretary.

"Checks from P. A. Hearst, made to order of W. A. McKowen, acting secretary or secretary.

"Checks from the Alumni Hall Fund made to order of regents of the University of California, and indorsed by W. A. McKowen, acting secretary. This is the check upon which suit against the First National Bank of Berkeley has been commenced. All other checks from donations were made to W. A. McKowen, secretary.

"It is virtually impossible to fix the beginning of the defalcations, as amounts collected from the students' fees were covered up by receipts from other sources, these being made good from subsequent donations, and in the absence of record of actual time of receipt of moneys no estimate can be made. From the obtainable data it would appear that in 1901, possibly $9,940.15 was embezzled; in 1902, $23,147.13, and in 1903, $17,391.48; of this $17,391.48, $6,792.37 was appropriated subsequent to August, 1903, to and including the date of the discovery of the default.

"All endowments from which funds were misappropriated have been made good upon the books of accounts of the University, by a charge to 'W. A. McKowen, suspense,' of the total amount of defalcation."

The said secretary kept the books of the said Board of Regents, and, so far as the evidence discloses, there was no supervision exercised over the secretary by the Board of Regents or the President of the University with reference to keeping the accounts and the receipts of money collected for the University, except that the said Board of Regents employed Mr. John J. Herr to make an occasional examination of the books. The testimony of Mr. Herr on this subject was that he never examined the books except when asked to do so by the secretary himself; that he was often delayed and put off in the examination by the said secretary, on his excuse that the books were not posted up and ready to be audited. After each examination of the books made by said auditor he gave to the Board of Regents a certificate of his examination, naming therein the books that he examined, which, in all cases, he reported he found correct. The books included all of the books showing the financial transactions of the regents of the University, except, in some cases, the minute book of the regents and the books of the treasurer and the books of the medical department of the University. Auditor Herr made no report of shortage or defalcation by the secretary. It appeared, by the testimony, that in the years 1900, to and including 1903, examinations were made by Auditor Herr as follows:

August 13, 1900, for the year ending June 30, 1900;
March 12, 1901, for July to December, 1900, and January, 1901;
September 10, 1901, for the year ending June 30, 1901;
January 18, 1902, for July to December, 1901;
August 13, 1902, for the year ending June 30, 1902;
November 11, 1902, July, August, and September, 1902;
February 10, 1903, for October, November, and December, 1902.

Thus it will be seen that the books were not audited for the period of one year, extending from December, 1902, to the time of the defalcation in December, 1903. The testimony shows that items appeared in the minute book of the regents, of cash received by the secretary, that were not entered in the cash book in which entry should have been made, notably, in one particular instance, an item of $500 (being a donation to the University by the Emanu-El Fellowship in Semitic Languages) was given to President Wheeler, and by him reported to the Board of Regents at their following regular meeting. That the said item appeared in the minutes of said board as having been received by President Wheeler, and payment of the same to the secretary; that a proper audit of the books would have disclosed the omission and put the auditor and finance committee of the regents upon investigation of the accounts. Another instance in which the irregularities of the secretary could easily have been discovered is found in a statement received from the treasurer of the regents crediting a donation by Claus Spreckels to the University, amounting to $11,675.82. The item was erased by a pen mark through it, and changed to read "medical department fees." The changed words were in different handwriting and different colored ink, and, by the testimony of Mr. Herr, proved to be in McKowen's handwriting. This change had the effect of placing $11,675.82 to the credit of said medical department funds, from which said secretary had been stealing for several months past. In relation to this fund, the secretary's books show that there was charged up to this fund approximating $11,000 between the months of January and March, 1903, while there was no money whatever credited to the fund until the said Claus Spreckels warrant was diverted to meet the payment of that fund.

The above irregularities are so glaring that the auditor should have discovered the same, and, even had the regents examined the books, the irregularities would have been readily discovered.

It further appeared from the evidence that the Board of Regents had fixed the amount of the bond of the secretary at only $5,000 as security against defalcation, but that the Board of Regents had even allowed this bond to expire on or about the 1st of July, 1903, without renewal of the same; the defalcation of the secretary was discovered in December of that year; in other words, that the secretary was without bond for about six months. We further find that upon the discovery of the defalcation, the Board of Regents recovered from said McKowen certain real and personal property of doubtful value, but said to approximate $5,000; that the Pacific Surety Company, who bonded said secretary, has refused to pay the amount of said bond, alleging that it is exonerated by breach of the conditions of said bond.

It appears, further, that in auditing the accounts of the University, neither the auditor nor the regents of the University made any examination, and have not, to this day, caused an audit or examination to be made of the treasurer's books or the books of the medical department. It appears that it has been and is now the custom for the treasurer to furnish a monthly statement of moneys received by him, and that the said secretary, McKowen, used this statement from which to post his books.

Your committee further find that the finance committee of the Board of Regents, since 1900, gave no time at all to a personal examination of the accounts or personal supervision of the books; that they gave no instructions whatever to said auditor as to the manner or how the books should be audited, and took no steps to ascertain whether or not the system of keeping the accounts was efficient for the purpose.

The committee further finds that immediately after the said defalcation was discovered, the said Board of Regents employed the firm of Knight, McLaren & Goode, expert bookkeepers, to devise a better system of keeping the accounts of said University; that the system recommended by said experts is a great improvement upon the former system in use at said institution, but that the same is still incomplete, in that the said expert system does not provide for duplicate or triplicate receipts, or, in fact, any system of giving receipts by the treasurer or medical department, which, in the opinion of the committee, is essential to keep a proper check on the receipts of said institution.

The committee further finds that although more than one year has expired since the dismissal of said Secretary McKowen, the said Board of Regents have failed to fill said position of secretary, and said office is now vacant; that the duties are at present performed by a person designated as "acting secretary," which is not a statutory office and not provided for by any permanent rules or regulations of the Board of Regents.

THE TURNER MORTGAGE.

It appears from the evidence that the University is now involved in litigation to recover a loan made by it on what is commonly known as the "Turner mortgage," involving between $40,000 and $50,000. It can not be stated at this time whether there will be a total loss in this matter or not. The litigation is the result of negligence on the part of the former attorney of the University.

CONTRACTS.

A number of complaints were made to the committee that in the construction of California Hall (built by appropriations made by the State of California) the cement and other material were imported at a price far in excess of the California product, and are in no way superior to home products. No evidence, however, was taken of these matters, as the same were beyond the scope of authority of this committee.

Wherefore, your committee respectfully recommend:

First—That the Board of Regents immediately provide a system for examination and auditing of the books of the treasurer and medical department of the University, and provide for a system of triplicate receipts, to be given by the treasurer and persons receiving fees for medical department, and for any other officer or department of the University receiving money for the said institution, similar to the plan now adopted for the secretary, and that the books relating to fiscal transactions be expeted at least semi-annually.

Second—Your committee, while fully appreciating the fact that the regents of the University are serving the State without pay, and purely out of a feeling of patriotic duty to the University, yet recognize that, in doing so, the regents have assumed an important trust—one that when once undertaken should be executed with care and diligence. The loss sustained being one that could have been avoided by the ordinary care and diligence that the regents would have exercised in their own business, leads the committee to the conclusion that the regents are under obligation to reimburse the funds of the University to the full extent of the defalcation by McKowen.

We therefore recommend that proper proceedings be taken to obtain reimbursement of the said losses.

Third—Your committee further recommends that the regents should use in the construction and furnishing of all buildings the exclusive products of the State of California in all cases where the same is available and meets the test required by builders and architects of the same character of building in private work, where the cost is not greater than the foreign article.

Respectfully submitted.

CARTER, Chairman.

The President presented the following petitions, which were ordered printed in the Journal:

THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE,
SAN FRANCISCO, February 27, 1905. }

His Excellency, the Lieutenant-Governor, Senate Chamber, Sacramento:

DEAR SIR: The following preamble and resolutions were adopted by the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange at a meeting held on the 27th of February, 1905:

WHEREAS, There is now pending before the Legislature of the State of California a resolution to propose to the people of the State of California certain amendments to the Constitution of the State of California, by amending Sections 1, 9, and 10 of Article XIII, relating to revenue and taxation, as set forth by the Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Constitutional Amendments Nos. 25, 26, and 27, proposed by Committee on Revenue and Taxation, February 15, 1905; and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange such amendment to the Constitution, if adopted, would destroy that equality and uniformity of taxation that justice dictates, and which has been and should always be the policy of this State; therefore, be it

Resolved, That such amendment would render possible gross discrimination against some taxpayers and in favor of others, and that as soon as it becomes known that the Legislature of California has the power to levy special taxes at any rate it may deem advisable on the gross or net earnings of any class of corporations, such knowledge will materially tend to keep business enterprises out of our State, will frighten capital away to other fields, will retard the development of our resources, mineral, horticultural, agricultural, commercial, and industrial, and thus deprive labor of an enlarged field of employment, and our people of the chance to profit to the full by the promise of the bright destiny that now confronts them. Any mistakes made by California at this critical period will be eagerly taken advantage of by those communities that are striving with us for the thrice important trade of the Pacific and the Orient; and be it further

Resolved, That for the foregoing reasons it is the opinion of the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange that said committee amendment should not be adopted.

THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE.

WILLIAM BABCOCK, President.
T. C. FRIEDLANDER, Secretary.

To HON. ALDEN ANDERSON, President State Senate:

SIR: At a meeting of the San Francisco Clearing House, held this day, the following preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted, with the request that the same be forwarded to you for the consideration of the Senate:

WHEREAS, The policy of the laws of this State has heretofore required, as far as possible, equality and uniformity of taxation; and

WHEREAS, Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 25 amends Section 1 of Article XIII of the Constitution of California so as to give the Legislature full power to levy and collect specific taxes on any property or classes of property, and gives the further power to discriminate as to individuals who shall be compelled to pay such taxes; and

WHEREAS, Such measure would completely destroy the equality and uniformity of taxation in this State and discriminate between individual members of the State who shall pay such taxes;

Resolved, That we hereby protest against the adoption of said proposed constitutional amendment, for the reasons aforesaid.

Yours faithfully,

HOMER S. KING, President.
A. KAINS, Secretary pro tem.

INTRODUCTION OF JOINT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Woodward asked for and was granted unanimous consent to introduce a joint resolution.

By Senator Woodward: Senate Joint Resolution No. 10—Relative to Japanese immigration.

CONSIDERATION OF JOINT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Woodward asked for and was granted unanimous consent to have Senate Joint Resolution No. 10 taken up for immediate consideration.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 10.

WHEREAS, The constantly increasing immigration of the subjects of the Japanese Empire into the Pacific Coast states and territories, and particularly into the State of California, has become, and is now, a serious menace to the well-being and prosperity of those states and territories, and particularly to the people of California, demanding the taking of immediate steps looking to the stay thereof; and,

WHEREAS, It is well known and generally recognized and acknowledged that, among many other facts and reasons justifying an apprehension of great danger, because of the growing and threatened invasion of our State by Japanese immigrants, the following are capable of exact proof, and do exist:

I. That the Japanese laborers, by reason of race habits, mode of living, disposition, and general characteristics, are an wholly undesirable and unsatisfactory addition to the population.

II. That the Japanese laborers are debarred from naturalization, and cannot, if they desired—which they do not—become citizens, and thereby exercise the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship.

III. That the Japanese laborers do not evince any inclination to assimilate with our people, or to become Americans. They remain as they come, Japanese, and, possessing no regard for republican institutions, continue to consider themselves subjects of the country of their nativity, and look only to the time when they may be able to return.

IV. That the Japanese immigrants now crowding to our shores are as a class, and with few exceptions, contract laborers, obligated to serve long periods of labor for small wages, and thereby, and as the result of said conditions, our communities are being filled with a servile class of laborers, which exists in a state of slavery in substance and effect, if not in name.

V. That the Japanese laborers are not hired individually, but in gangs, and from a contractor who has entire control of their services, and who, by the terms of the obligation under which they are brought to the country, is enabled to furnish them at such places, in such numbers, for such times, and at such wages as may be agreed between the contractor and employer.

VI. That the contractor for Japanese labor by reason of the favorable terms of his agreement, is enabled to, and is accustomed to, supply Japanese laborers wherever desired in this State at rates which do not supply a white man with the common necessities of life, much less enable him to provide for his family or to educate his children.

VII. That the Japanese contract laborers have already gained control of numerous branches of industry in this State, and by reason of the low rate of wages paid for the work, have forced all white labor therefrom, and they are constantly crowding into other avenues of labor and driving our own workmen from occupations to which they have been accustomed, and from which they have heretofore gained a livelihood.

VIII. That the Japanese laborers will, within a brief period, unless their immigration be limited in some reasonable degree, occasion great distress and misery to the white laborers of the State, by depriving them of the opportunity to secure work at wages sufficient for support.

IX. That the Japanese laborers do not employ any of their savings in the building up of the communities wherein for a time they may reside. They are mere transients, coming only to do the particular work for which their contractor has agreed to furnish them, and going, at its completion, to another place, to which they have in like manner been allotted. They do not buy land for homes. They do not build or buy houses either for business or home purposes. They contribute nothing to the growth of the State. They add nothing to its wealth, and they are a blight upon the prosperity of it, and a great and impending danger to its welfare.

X. Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That in view of the facts and reasons aforesaid, and of many others that might be stated:

We, as the representatives of the people of the State of California, do urgently and strongly ask and request, and, so far as it may be proper, demand, for the protection of the people of this State, and for the proper safeguarding of their interests, that action be taken without delay, by treaty or otherwise, as may be most expeditious and advantageous, tending within reasonable bounds, to limit and diminish the further immigration of Japanese laborers into the United States.

That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be, and they are hereby requested and directed, to bring the matters aforesaid to the attention of the President, and the Department of State.

That the Governor be requested to forward a copy of the foregoing preamble, and of these resolutions, to the President and the Secretary of State.

Section eight of article eleven of the Constitution is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 8. Any city containing a population of more than three thousand five hundred inhabitants may frame a charter for its own government, consistent with and subject to the Constitution, (or, having framed such a charter, may frame a new one,) by causing a board of fifteen freeholders, who shall have been for at least five years qualified electors thereof, to be elected by the qualified voters of said city at any general or special election, whose duty it shall be, within ninety days after such election, to prepare and propose a charter for such city, which shall be signed in duplicate by the members of such board, or a majority of them, and returned, one copy to the mayor thereof, or other chief executive officer of such city, and the other to the recorder of the county. Such proposed charter shall then be published in two daily newspapers of general circulation in such city, for at least twenty days, and the first publication shall be made within twenty days after the completion of the charter; provided, that in cities containing a population of not more than ten thousand inhabitants, such proposed charter shall be published in one such daily newspaper; and within thirty days after such publication it shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said city at a general or special election, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon shall ratify the same, it shall thereafter be submitted to the Legislature for its approval or rejection as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment. shall be deposited in the archives of the city, and thereafter all courts shall take judicial notice of said charter. The charter, so ratified, may be amended at intervals of not less than two years by proposals therefor, submitted by the legislative authority of the city to the qualified electors thereof at a general or special election, held at least forty days after the publication of such proposals for twenty days in a daily newspaper of general circulation in such city, and ratified by a majority of the electors voting thereon, and approved by the Legislature as herein provided for the approval of the charter. The President ruled that I had a right to reconsider, and the Senate, in order to finally pass Senate Bill 24, and prevent further consideration provided by the rules of the Senate at the time said vote was taken, overruled the decision of the President. CONSIDERATION OF BILL—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Broughton asked for and was granted unanimous consent to have Senate Bill No. 181 taken up for immediate consideration.

Senate Bill No. 181—An Act to provide for the formation, organization, and classification of new counties, for locating the county seats, for the election and appointment of officers, and for the adjustment and fulfillment of the rights and obligations arising between such new counties and other counties.

During second reading of bill, the following substitute was submitted by committee:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE No. 2 FOR SENATE BILL No. 181.

An Act to provide for the formation, organization, and classification of new counties, for locating the county seats, for the election and appointment of officers, and for the adjustment and fulfillment of the rights and obligations arising between such new counties and other counties.

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. New counties may, from time to time, be formed and created in this State from portions of one or more counties already in existence, in the manner set forth in this Act, provided, however, that no new counties shall be established which shall reduce any county to a population of less than twenty thousand, nor shall any new county be formed containing a less population than six thousand, nor shall any line thereof pass within five miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided. Every county which shall be enlarged or created from territory taken from any other county or counties shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the county or counties from which such territory shall be taken, to be determined as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. Whenever it is desired to divide any county or counties then existing, and form a new county out of a portion of the territory of such county or counties, a petition shall be presented to the board of supervisors of the county from which said new county is to be formed, in case said county is to be formed from but one county, or to the board of supervisors of the county from which the largest amount of territory is proposed to be taken for the formation of such new county in case said new county is to be formed by portions of two or more existing counties. Such petition shall be signed by at least one half of the qualified electors of the proposed new county; provided, that the names of one half of said petitioners shall appear on the last assessment roll preceding the date of the filing of said petition, whose names appear on the great register or registers used at the general election held therein last preceding the presentation of said petition to the board of supervisors as herein provided; such signatures need not all be appended to one paper, but may be signed to several petitions which must be identical in form, and when so signed the several petitions may be fastened together, and shall be treated and presented as one petition. Such petition shall contain:

A particular description of the boundaries of the proposed county to be formed, and a statement that no line thereof passes within five miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided;

A statement of the population in such proposed county, as nearly as may be;

A statement of the population remaining in the county or each of the counties from which such new county is to be established, as near as may be;

The assessed value of the property in such proposed county, as shown by the last assessment roll;

The name of the proposed county;

A prayer that such proposed county be organized into a new county under the provisions of this Act.

There shall be attached to and filed with said petition the affidavit of three qualified electors and taxpayers within each county sought to be divided to the effect that they have read said petition and examined the signatures affixed thereto, and they believe that the statements therein are true, and that it is signed by at least one half of the electors of the proposed new county; that the signatures affixed thereto are genuine and that each of such persons so signing was a qualified elector of such county therein sought to be divided, at the date of such signing, and that the names of one half of said petitioners appeared on the last assessment roll preceding the date of the said petition. Such petition so verified and the verification thereof shall be accepted in all proceedings permitted or provided for in this Act, as prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters and facts therein set forth.

Upon the receipt of such petition and affidavit the said board of supervisors shall forthwith fix a date to hear the proofs of the said petitioners and of any opponents thereto, which date must not be less than twenty nor more than twenty-five days subsequent to the receipt of such petition by said board.

Said board of supervisors shall also at the same time designate a newspaper of general circulation published in the old county or each of the old counties, but not within the proposed county, and also a newspaper of general circulation published within the boundaries of the proposed new county, if there be such, in which the said board shall order and cause to be published at least once a week for two weeks next preceding the date fixed for such hearing, a notice in substantially the following form:

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been presented to the board of supervisors of county (naming the county represented by the board of supervisors with which said petition was filed) praying for the formation of a new county out of a portion of the said county and county (naming the county or counties out of which it is proposed to form the new county), and that said petition will be heard by the said board of supervisors at its place of meeting (designating the city or town and the day and hour of the meeting so to be held), when and where all persons interested therein may appear and oppose the granting of said petition and make any objection thereto.

Dated

By order of the board of supervisors of

By

.....Chairman.

Attest.....County Clerk.

Said petitioners shall on or before the date fixed for said hearing, or on or before the date to which said hearing may have been adjourned, file with said board of supervisors a bond to be approved by said board, in such amount as the said board shall designate, but not exceeding five thousand dollars, payable to the county in which said petition is filed, conditioned that the obligors named in said bond will pay to said county all expenses incurred in the proceedings and election provided for in this act, not exceeding the amount specified in said bond, in the event that at the election herein provided for more than forty per cent of the votes cast at said election are "For the new county of No."

At the time so fixed for said hearing the board of supervisors shall proceed to hear the petitioners and any opponents, and may adjourn such hearing from time to time, not exceeding fourteen days in all, and shall receive the proofs offered to establish or controvert the facts set forth in said petition, and on the final hearing of such petition said board shall by resolution entered on its minutes determine:

1st. The boundaries of the proposed new county, which boundaries shall conform to the boundary lines designated in said petition and the boundaries so determined by said board of supervisors shall be the boundaries of such proposed new county if it be created as herein provided.

2d. Whether the said petition contains the genuine signatures of at least one half of the qualified voters of proposed new county as herein required.

3d. Whether the establishing of the proposed new county will reduce the population of any county proposed to be divided to less than twenty thousand.

4th. Whether the proposed new county will contain a population of at least six thousand.

5th. Whether any line of the proposed new county passes within five miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided.

6th. The class of counties to which said proposed new county after its creation shall belong, and the name of said proposed new county as herein provided.

In determining the population of the proposed new county and the population remaining in any county proposed to be divided, after such division, the board of supervisors shall assume that such population is five times the number of names of electors recorded on the great register used at the last general election held in each of the counties proposed to be divided, as residents in the territory of which the population is required to be determined.

SEC. 3. If said board of supervisors determine that the formation of such proposed county will reduce the population of the remainder of any county to less than twenty thousand, or that the proposed county contains a less population than six thousand, or that any line of said proposed county passes within five miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided, or that such petition does not contain the genuine signatures of at least one half of the qualified electors of the proposed new county, or that the names of one half of said petitioners do not appear on the last assessment roll, preceding the date of said petition as herein provided, it shall pass a resolution in accordance with such determination, and thereupon no further proceedings in relation to the division of said county or counties shall be had on said petition, nor shall other proceedings be had in relation to the division of such county or counties for at least six months thereafter.

If the said board of supervisors determines that the formation of said proposed new county will not reduce the population of any county proposed to be divided to less than 6,000, and that the proposed new county contains a population of at least 6,000, and that no line of said proposed new county passes within five miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided, and that said petition contains the genuine signatures of at least one half of the electors of the proposed new county, and that the names of one half of said petitioners appear on the last assessment roll preceding the date of said petition, then said board of supervisors shall divide the proposed new county into a convenient number of judicial townships, road and school districts and define their boundaries and designate the names of such districts, and each of them; they shall also divide the proposed new county into five supervisorial districts to contain as nearly as practicable an equal population, and number said districts; they shall also, if necessary for the purposes of the election hereinafter provided for, change the boundaries of the election precincts in said old county or counties to make the same conform to the boundaries of the proposed new county.

So soon as the board of supervisors shall have divided the counties affected as last hereinbefore in this section provided, but no longer than two weeks after its determination of the truth of the allegations of said petition as aforesaid the said board of supervisors shall order, and give proclamation, and notice of, an election to be held on a specified day in the territory which is proposed to be taken for the new county, not less than twenty-five nor more than forty days thereafter, for the purpose of determining whether such territory shall be established and organized into a new county, and for the election of officers and locating of a county seat therefor in case the vote at such election shall be in favor of the establishment and organization of such new county.

All electors resident within the proposed new county and who are electors of the county or counties proposed to be divided, and who have been such for ten days prior to said election, shall be entitled to vote at said election.

Such proclamation and notice of election shall be published at least once a week for three weeks before holding of such election, in some newspaper of general circulation published in the territory which is proposed to be taken for the new county and a copy hereof shall be mailed immediately by the county clerk of the county in which the petition is filed to the county clerk of each county from which territory is taken for the proposed new county. Such proclamation and notice shall require the voters to cast ballots which shall contain the words "For the new county of (giving the name of the proposed new county) Yes," and "For the new county of (giving the name of the proposed new county) No," and each voter desiring to vote for the establishment and organization of said new county shall stamp a cross (X) opposite the words "For the new county of——— Yes," in the manner now required by law in other elections, and each voter desiring to vote against the establishment and organization of said new county shall mark a cross (X) opposite the words "For the new county of——— No," in the manner now required by law in other elections; and shall also contain the names of persons to be voted for to fill the various elective offices designated in said proclamation for counties of the class to which said proposed county will belong, as determined by the board of supervisors as herein directed and in the manner provided by law, except as herein otherwise provided, and also shall have printed thereon the words "For county seat," with a blank space left below said words and the voter shall write his choice for county seat in said space and the name so written shall be counted as the choice of the voter for such county seat, whether a cross (X) shall be marked after said name or not or whether said name be written in ink or pencil.

The proclamation calling the election and the notice thereof provided for in this Act shall be made and given exclusively by the board of supervisors with which is filed the said petition for the formation and establishment of such new county.

Such election shall be governed and controlled by the general election laws of the State so far as the same shall be applicable, except as herein otherwise provided.

The county clerk of each county from which territory is taken for the proposed new county shall furnish to each board of election within said proposed new county the book of affidavits of registration for the precincts of such proposed new county as are within their respective counties, and the copies of indexes thereof required by law, containing the names of all persons who were qualified electors therein within ten days before the date of such election. All returns of election herein provided for shall be made to the board of supervisors calling such election.

All certificates of nomination of candidates for the offices required to be filled at said election shall be filed with the county clerk of the county represented by the board of supervisors calling said election not less than ten days next before the date of such election.

The provisions of the election laws relating to preparation, printing, and distribution of sample ballots and the provisions of said laws relating to primary elections in this State shall have no application to any election provided for in this Act.

Sec. 4. If upon the canvass of the votes cast at such election it appears that sixty per cent of the votes cast are "For the new county of _____ Yes," the board of supervisors shall by a resolution entered upon its minutes declare such territory duly formed and created as a county of this State, of the class to which the same shall belong, under the name and style _____ county (naming it), and that the place receiving the highest number of votes cast at said election (naming it) shall be the county seat of said county until removed in the manner provided by law, and designating and declaring the persons receiving respectively the highest number of votes for the several offices to be filled at said election, to be duly elected to such office and prescribing the amount in which such officers must execute official bonds, where official bonds are required by law. Said board shall forthwith cause a copy of its said resolution duly certified to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and from and after the date of such filing said new county shall be deemed to be fully created, and the organization thereof shall be deemed completed and such officers shall be entitled to enter immediately upon the duties of their respective offices upon qualifying in accordance with law and giving bonds for the faithful performance of their duties as herein required. The clerk of the board of supervisors with which said petition was filed, as herein provided, must immediately make out and deliver to each of said persons so declared and designated to be elected, a certificate of election authenticated by his signature and the seal of said board of supervisors. All the officers elected at said election or appointed under this Act shall hold their offices until the time provided by general law for the election and qualification of such officers in this State and until their successors are elected and qualified.

If, however, upon such canvass it appears that more than forty per cent of the votes cast at said election are "For the new county of _____ No," the said board of supervisors shall pass a resolution in accordance therewith and thereupon the proceedings relating to the division of such county or counties shall cease and determine and no other proceedings in relation to the division of said county or counties shall be instituted for at least one year after such determination.

Sec. 5. At the election provided for in section three of this Act there shall be chosen one judge of the superior court of said new county whose salary shall be $3,000 per annum, payable at the same time and in the same manner as salaries of the judges of the superior court of the several counties of the State are paid; also such other State, county, township, and district officers as are now or may hereafter by general law be provided for in counties of the class to which said new county is determined to belong as herein provided; provided, however, that all duly elected, qualified and acting supervisors, residing within the proposed new county at the time of the division of such county into supervisorial districts, as hereinbefore in Section 3 hereof provided, shall hold office of supervisors in said new county for the remainder of the term for which they were elected, on qualifying as supervisors for the respective districts in which they reside, as said districts are organized as provided in this Act.

Provided, also, that all duly elected, qualified, and acting justices of the peace and constables residing within the proposed new county at the time of the division of such county into judicial townships as hereinbefore in Section 3 hereof provided, shall hold office as such justices of the peace or constables in said county for the remainder of the term for which they were elected, on qualifying as justices of the peace or constables for the respective townships in which they reside, as said townships are organized as provided in this Act; also provided that all duly elected, qualified and acting school trustees residing within the proposed new county at the time of the division of such county into school districts, as hereinbefore in Section 3 hereof provided, shall hold office as school trustees in said new county for the remainder of the term for which they were elected, on qualifying as school trustees for the respective districts in which they reside, as said districts are organized as provided by this Act.

Each person elected or appointed to fill an office of such new county under the provisions of this Act shall qualify in the manner provided by law for such officers, except as herein otherwise provided, and shall enter upon the discharge of the duties of his office within twenty days after the receipt of his certificate of election. Each of such officers may take the oath of office before any officer authorized by the law of the State of California to administer oaths, and the bond of any officer from which a bond is required shall be approved by any judge of the superior court of any county from which territory was taken to form such new county. The officers elected or appointed under the provisions of this Act shall each perform the duties and receive the compensation now provided by general law for the office to which he has been appointed or elected, in counties of the class to which such new county shall have been determined to belong, as herein provided under the general classification of counties in this State.

SEC. 6. If by reason of the provisions of Section 5 of this Act, any vacancies in the offices of supervisors, justices of the peace, constables or school trustees are created in the old county or counties, the vacancies shall be filled, as is now provided by general laws, for the unexpired terms of such officers respectively; and the board of supervisors of such old county shall redistrict the territory remaining therein into supervisorial districts, and in any of such districts in which none of the remaining supervisors reside the office of supervisor shall be deemed to be vacant, and supervisors for such districts shall be appointed as by general law provided.

SEC. 7. It shall be the duty of the persons so elected to the office of supervisors of said new county, to meet at the county seat thereof, within five days after all of them shall have qualified, and upon organization of said board of supervisors, it shall notify the Governor of the State of the organization of said county, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint three persons, one of whom shall be a resident and taxpayer within the new county, and no two of them shall be from any one county; the three persons so appointed shall form and be a board of commissioners. Such commissioners shall within ten days after the notice of their appointment, meet at the county seat of the new county and organize by electing from their number a chairman, and also elect a secretary who must not be a member of said commission. Thereafter such commission may meet at such place or places as it may select. A majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Said commission shall have power to compel by citation or subpoena signed by their president and secretary the attendance of such persons and the production of such books and papers before said commission as may be required in the performance of the duties imposed by this Act except the official records of any county or counties from which said new county was formed. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of any county to execute in his county all lawful orders and citations of the said commission; and for any services so performed the sheriff shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed to him for services in civil actions, and all witnesses attending before said commission shall be entitled to the same compensation and mileage as is allowed to witnesses in civil actions; provided, that no witness shall be excused from attendance at the time and place mentioned in said order or citation by reason of the failure of the officer making such service to tender to such witness his fees and mileage in advance.

SEC. 8. Said board of commissioners shall immediately after its organization ascertain the costs of the election held hereunder and apportion the same equally between each of the counties from which territory was taken to form such new county, and said new county, and shall also ascertain the indebtedness of each county from which territory was taken to form the new county, as the same existed at the time when the result of the election thereon was declared by the board of supervisors as hereinbefore provided, and also the total value of all property at that time belonging to each of said counties from which territory was taken, and situate within the limits of said old counties respectively. It shall also ascertain the assessed value of all property in each of the counties from which territory was so taken, according to the last-completed assessment made for said county, and also the assessed value, under the same assessment, of all property within the territory of the new county which shall have been taken from the county of which said new county was formed. They shall then find the difference between the amount of the indebtedness of the old county and the value of the property belonging to the old county at the date of the declaration of the result of said election as hereinbefore provided, and if such indebtedness exceeds the value of such property belonging to the old county, the new county shall pay to the old county a due proportion thereof, to be determined as follows: As said assessed value of the property in the old county is to the said assessed value of the property in the territory provided by this Act to be incorporated within the new county from said old county, so is the amount of said excess to the amount to be paid by said new county to said old county. Said board of commissioners shall certify forthwith to the boards of supervisors of the new county and the old counties thereby affected, the amount constituting the due proportion of said excess payable by such new county to each of them; also the value of any property belonging to each old county at the time when said division took effect as hereinbefore provided, which is situated in the new county. The sum of said ascertained value of said last mentioned property added to the ascertained proportion of said excess which the new county is to pay to the old county, and its proportion of the expense of said election as aforesaid, shall be an indebtedness from the new county to the old county, and the said property situated as aforesaid in the new county, shall upon settlement therefor, as provided in this Act, become the property of the new county, and the old county shall pay the entire indebtedness against it, and the expense of said election shall be paid by the county calling such election, and any other county affected thereby shall pay its proportion thereof as hereinbefore provided.

In case said board of commissioners shall find that the value of the property belonging to the old county, at the time the division thereof takes effect, as herein provided, exceeds the indebtedness of said old county, the excess shall be apportioned between said old county and the new county in the proportion aforesaid, and if the portion of said excess payable to the new county does not exceed the value of said property belonging to the old county and situate in the new county, said portion of said excess shall be deducted from the value of said property situate in the new county as last aforesaid, and the balance after deducting said portion of such excess shall be certified as aforesaid to the said board of supervisors together with the portion of the expense of such election apportioned to such new county, and shall be an indebtedness from the new county to the old county, but if said portion of such excess is greater than the value of said property situate in the new county as aforesaid and belonging to the old county, the value of said property last aforesaid shall be deducted from said portion of such excess and the balance shall be certified as aforesaid to the said board of supervisors and shall be an indebtedness from the old county to the new county, after deducting the portion of the expense of such election apportioned to such new county and payable to such old county, and the old county shall pay the same. The proceedings in this section required to be taken in the ascertainment and adjustment of property rights and debts shall be had and taken as between said new county and each of the counties from which territory is taken to form said new county in the manner and at the ratio in said section provided. If upon the settlement between the old and the new county as herein provided for, the new county shall be found to be indebted to the old county or either of the old counties, the money necessary to pay said indebtedness shall be raised by a tax levied upon the property contained in said new county and said new county shall pay the same; provided, however, that such payment by said new county may be made in not more than three equal annual payments, or by funds to be derived from the sale of bonds of said new county, as may be determined by a resolution of the board of supervisors of said new county adopted within one year after the receipt of the statement from the board of commissioners as aforesaid of the amount or amounts due from it.

SEC. 9. Members of the board of commissioners provided for under this Act shall receive a compensation of not to exceed $8 per day for every day they are actually employed under the provisions of this Act together with their actual expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, and the clerk of said board shall receive as compensation for his services not to exceed $5 per day for every day that he is actually employed under the provisions of this Act, all of which expenses, together with the reasonable expenses of stationery, postage, and incidental expenses shall be borne in equal proportions by the counties affected by such division including said new county, and the amounts payable by each county shall be paid by the treasurers of the respective counties after the same shall have been presented to and allowed by the board of supervisors as is provided by law for claims against any county.

SEC. 10. After the creation of a new county as herein provided its officers shall proceed to complete all proceedings necessary for the assessment or collection of the state and county taxes for the then current year and all acts and steps theretofore taken by the officers of the old county or counties prior to the creation of the new county shall be deemed and taken as having been performed by the officers of the new county for the benefit of the new county; and upon the creation of the new county it shall be the duty of the officers of the old county or counties to immediately execute and deliver to the board of supervisors of such new county copies of all assessments or other proceedings relative to the assessment and collection of the current state and county taxes of property in such new county. Such copies shall be filed with the respective officers of the new county who would have the custody of the same if the proceedings had been originally had in the new county and such certified copies shall be taken and deemed as originals, and original proceedings in the new county, and all proceedings therein recited shall be taken and deemed as original proceedings in the new county, and shall have the same effect as if the proceedings therein stated had been had at the proper time and in the proper manner by the respective officials of the new county, and the officials of the new county are hereby authorized and directed to proceed thenceforth with the assessment and collection of said taxes as if the proceedings originally had in the old county or counties had been originally had in the new county.

SEC. 11. The superintendent of public schools of the old county or each of the old counties respectively shall furnish the superintendent of public schools of the new county with a certified copy of the last school census of the different school districts in the territory set apart to form the new county, and draw his warrant on the treasurer of his old county or each of the old counties respectively in favor of the superintendent of schools in the new county, for all the money that is or may be due by any apportionment or otherwise to the different districts embraced in the new county, out of his county and the auditor of each old county shall in like manner respectively draw his warrant on the treasurer of his county in favor of the auditor of the new county for all money that is or may be due by apportionment or otherwise to the different road and supervisorial or district funds, in the territory set apart to form the new county, out of his county, which said amounts shall be properly credited in both counties. And whenever in the formation of a new county, a road, supervisorial or school district has been divided the board of supervisors shall by resolution direct the treasurer to transfer the proper proportionate amount of the money remaining in the fund of such district to the treasurer of the new county.

SEC. 12. The board of supervisors of any new county formed as aforesaid must provide suitable books and have transcribed from the records of the old county or counties all such parts thereof as relate to or affect property or the title thereof situate in the new county, and said records when so transcribed and certified as herein provided shall have the same force and effect as such original records; and the compensation for said services shall be fixed and allowed by the board of supervisors of such new county at not to exceed eight cents per folio for transcribing. The recorder of the old county or counties shall compare the books of such transcripts and attach to each volume a certificate under his seal of office of the correctness of the records therein copied, for which service of comparing he shall be entitled to charge not to exceed two cents per folio, and for each certificate the sum not to exceed twenty-five cents.

SEC. 13. All actions pending in the superior court of the old county or counties for the recovery of the possession of, quieting the title to or for the enforcement of liens upon, real estate lying in the new county shall on motion of any party thereto be transferred to the superior court of the new county, and thereafter shall be subject to the same laws as if said action had been originally brought in the superior court of the new county. All other actions or special proceedings pending in the superior court or courts of said old county or counties, which might have been commenced in said new county if said new county had been in existence at the date of the commencing thereof, may in the discretion of the court in which it is pending and on motion of any party interested therein, be transferred to the superior court of such new county.

SEC. 14. Wherever in this Act publication of any notice is provided for and no newspaper of general circulation is published within the territory in which said notice is required to be published, notice shall be given by posting copies of such notice in at least ten public places in such territory for the same length of time said notice was required to be published.

SEC. 15. The territory within the limits of any new county until otherwise provided by law shall constitute and continue a part of the assembly and senatorial districts to which the same belonged prior to such county division.

SEC. 16. The notaries public of the old county who are residents of the territory embraced in the new county at the date of its creation shall hold their offices until the expiration of their terms and shall be recommissioned as notaries public in and for the new county until the expiration of their terms and the Governor shall from time to time appoint such additional notaries public for the new county as he may deem requisite.

SEC. 17. Any member of any board of supervisors or any other officer who violates any of the provisions of this Act, or fails to perform any duty imposed upon him hereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and of malfeasance in office and be deprived of his office by the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction after trial and conviction.

A LETTER CONCERNING SENATE BILL No. 884.

Senator Ward presented the following letter, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF THE CITY AND COUNTY ASSESSOR,
CITY HALL, SAN FRANCISCO, March 3, 1905. }

To the Committee on Revenue and Taxation:

GENTLEMEN: The proposed amendment to the section providing for the taxation of National bank shares will establish a method for fixing the value of franchises of all corporations. The method is that which was provided in a bill introduced two years ago by Senator Curtin. It was then shown that this would decrease franchise assessments in this city alone by over $20,000,000, and this bill was not carried. Over $25,000,000 would be lost from the assessment roll in this city alone were this amendment adopted. It ignores the bonds of quasi-public corporations in establishing the market value of their property.

National banks have so arranged their holdings that their assessments in this city have shrunk from $7,000,000 in 1900 to $700,000 in 1905. It is safe to predict in a year or two, under the present law, they will escape all taxation. To amend the section will do no good. The entire law would have to be changed to compel them to pay any tax on their stock. But in this vain attempt to tax National banks, other corporations are being relieved to the extent of $25,000,000 in this city alone. The national law does not permit the assessment of a franchise of a National bank. If the method of arriving at the value of a franchise is to be established, as applied to any corporation, it should constitute a separate section, or become a part of Section 3617, and should include the bonds as well as the stocks of corporations.

WASHINGTON DODGE,
Assessor City and County of San Francisco.

TIME SET FOR ADJOURNMENT.

Senator Leavitt moved that when the hour of twelve o'clock M. of this day arrives, the Senate stands adjourned until Monday, March 6, 1905, at ten o'clock and thirty minutes A. M.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Belshaw arose to a question of personal privilege, and spoke as follows:

The San Francisco "Examiner" of this day, in its comment on the vote on Senate Bill No. 238, among other things, says:

"A vote that occasioned some surprise and not a little comment was that cast by Senator C. M. Belshaw of Contra Costa. Heretofore Senator Belshaw has always voted favorably on propositions against the labor unions, but on the Ralston bill he voted with the unions. Belshaw's vote was explained by Senator Markey, who stated that the Senator from Contra Costa voted against the Ralston bill as a trade for Markey's vote on the Yosemite Recession bill."

Mr. President, I brand this statement as a malicious falsehood. I told Mr. Tarpey, the "Examiner" reporter, yesterday, that there was no truth in such a report, and yet he sent in this falsehood. I have never traded a vote in the Legislature in the interest of any bill I have had.

Senator Markey also arose to a question of personal privilege, and substantiated Senator Belshaw's statement that the charge in the "Examiner" was a malicious falsehood.

CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour having arrived for the consideration of the special order heretofore set, being the consideration of the special file of Constitutional Amendments, the same was taken up.

SENATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 40.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California, an amendment to the Constitution of the State, by amending Sections 2 and 23 of Article IV thereof, relating to the length of legislative sessions, the compensation of members of the Legislature, and limiting the expense of employes of the Senate and Assembly.

The Legislature of the State of California, at its regular session, commencing on the second day of January, nineteen hundred and five, two thirds of all the members elected to each of the houses of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, hereby propose that sections two and twenty-three of article four of the Constitution of the State of California be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. The sessions of the Legislature shall commence at 12 o'clock M., on the first Monday after the first day of January next succeeding the election of its members, and after the election held in the year 1880 shall be biennial, unless the Governor shall, in the interim, convene the Legislature by proclamation. No bill shall be introduced in either house forty days after the commencement of each session without the consent of three fourths of the members thereof.

Section 23. The members of the Legislature shall receive for their services the sum of one thousand dollars each per session, to be paid at such times during the session as may be provided by law, and mileage to be fixed by law and paid out of the State Treasury; such mileage shall not exceed ten cents per mile, and contingent expenses not exceeding twenty-five dollars per member for each session.

WHEREAS, It is impracticable to change the salaries of the justices or judges of the same court, where their terms expire at different times, under the present restriction that such salary shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they have been elected; now, therefore,

The Legislature of the State of California, at its regular session commencing on the 2nd day of January, 1905, two thirds of all members elected to each of the houses thereof voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes that Section 17 of Article VI of the Constitution of said State be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 17. The justices of the Supreme Court and of the District Courts of Appeal and the judges of the Superior Courts, shall severally, at stated times during their continuance in office, receive for their services such compensation as is or shall be provided by law. The salaries of the judges of the Superior Court, in all counties having but one judge, and in all counties in which the terms of the judges of the Superior Court expire at the same time, shall not hereafter be increased or diminished after their election, nor during the term for which they shall have been elected. Upon the adoption of this amendment the salaries then established by law shall be paid uniformly to the justices and judges then in office. The salaries of the justices of the Supreme Court and of the District Courts of Appeal shall be paid by the State. One half of the salary of each Superior Court judge shall be paid by the State; and the other half thereof shall be paid by the county for which he is elected. To the Senate of the State of California:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that I have approved Senate Bill No. 88—An Act forbidding the payment of municipal officers out of the funds of the county.

municipal corporations," approved March 13, 1883, and relating to the assessment and collection of taxes in municipalities of the fifth and sixth classes.

Very respectfully,

GEO. C. PARDEE, Governor.

Also:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, March 8, 1906. }

To the Senate of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor, respectfully, to return herewith to your honorable body Senate Bill No. 179—"An Act to prevent vaccination being made a condition precedent to admission to the public schools of the State of California"—without my approval, for the following reasons:

I speak as one familiar by training and education, with the subject-matter when I say that the vast preponderance of expert medical authority throughout the civilized world asserts that vaccination is the prime cause of the practical disappearance of smallpox—one of the most dreaded and dreadful diseases of pre-vaccination times—from communities protected by it. Under its beneficent protection the decimating epidemics which formerly swept through Europe have very nearly disappeared, and the disease, modified by vaccination, has now, to a great extent, lost its terrors in the minds of those who have neither witnessed nor suffered from its devastations.

Before the discovery and application of vaccination by the immortal Jenner, the disease was nearly universal, and it was considered to be a grave disadvantage not to have had smallpox in childhood.

In our day and generation, however, we see, by comparison, little of the dread disease, although we have it with us not infrequently in sporadic cases, its virulence modified and its universal spread prevented by vaccination. Severe and terrible epidemics have gradually, but surely, become things of the past, except where, from any cause, vaccination has been neglected.

When vaccination was first introduced there was but little opposition to it: everybody being eager to escape from the dreaded smallpox, and there was no need for compulsory vaccination laws.

The beneficent effects of vaccination became evident immediately upon its introduction. In the city of Copenhagen, for instance, during the twelve years immediately preceding the introduction, the average annual number of deaths from smallpox was 458. During the sixteen years immediately subsequent to the introduction of vaccination, the deaths from smallpox averaged only 9.8 per annum.

In the city of Ansbach, Bavaria, 500 people died, on the average, every year from smallpox—one epidemic, in the year 1800, killing 1,609 people. In the next eleven years, under universal infantile vaccination, there were but five deaths from smallpox in the same town.

In Norwich, England, for many years before the introduction of vaccination, the deaths from smallpox averaged three for every 1,000 inhabitants; while, during the eight years, from 1810 to 1818, after vaccination had been introduced, there were no deaths at all from that disease.

In Montreal, Canada, vaccination, resisted by the local anti-vaccination societies, had been, for some time, abandoned previous to the year 1889. In that year an epidemic of smallpox broke out, and over 3,000 inhabitants of the city perished.

Gloucester, Leicester, and Sheffield, in England, also, at the instance of the anti-vaccinationists, abandoned compulsory vaccination, and paid, very recently, through the medium of severe epidemics of smallpox, for their temerity.

In the United States Navy there is no smallpox, and has been none for many years, vaccination being compulsory, although its personnel is very frequently exposed to smallpox infection. The Japanese army, for the same reason, is immune from the dread disease.

That accidents of many kinds, even death, may follow vaccination is not, can not, be denied. But that the number of these accidents, compared to the many, many thousands, even millions, of times that this beneficent procedure is practiced, is anything but infinitesimal, is not borne out by the facts.

Nor is it true that the untoward results following vaccination are, in even a small proportion of such accidents, the result of the introduction of the vaccine virus into the patient's body. Tetanus, or lockjaw, not infrequently follows injuries of various kinds, slight wounds, even scratches, being followed, if infected with the specific bacillus, by the disease. Such cases, not following vaccination, are not looked upon with the horror that follows an infected vaccination scratch which may, like any other abrasion, be followed by lockjaw. Nor is it true as has been often asserted, that lockjaw frequently follows vaccination. Other wounds, such as those inflicted by toy pistols or rusty nails, are followed far, far more frequently by lockjaw than is vaccination. And the same thing is true of other diseases, such as erysipelas, abscesses, etc., which follow the infection of any slight wound, including vaccination. But, following vaccination, such accidents, few though they be, arouse greater interest than when they follow accidental wounds.

I think it is safe to say that if the dangers, essential and accidental, of vaccination were multiplied a thousand times, they would not, even then, equal, even approach, the danger to life resulting from the unrestricted inroads of smallpox, to say nothing of the great disfigurements, the blindness, and the many other ills that follow in the train of severe smallpox epidemics.

Freedom from smallpox epidemics produces a false sense of security (witness Montreal, Gloucester, Leicester, and Sheffield), and, therefore, unless there be some law to promote its practice, it falls into disuse and a fallow field for smallpox epidemics follows.

Where vaccination is compulsory and the law is well administered, there is but very, very little, smallpox—so little that those protected by vaccination soon lose their fear of the dread disease; and, turning their attention to the lesser evils of the vaccine virus, many of us conjure up a fear, not warranted by facts, against the very thing that saves us from a much worse fate.

And this, I think, is what has called into being the bill which I now return to you unsigned. Were it to become a law, there can be no doubt but that vaccination would soon fall into practical disuse. And thus would be prepared among our children (not mine; for they shall always be protected) a field for smallpox to fairly revel in. This bill, because, in my opinion, it removes from the statute books the only real incentive to protective vaccination, is against public policy and safety, and, therefore, in my judgment, should not become a law.

Whether vaccination should be universal; whether or not it should be required as a prerequisite for attendance on the public schools; whether the procedure should be legally surrounded by greater precautions and safeguards, are questions which, I think, do not here need discussion. The only thing at issue here and now, in this bill, it seems to me, is whether or not the State shall or shall not reverse its present pro-vaccination policy and assume, what this bill practically provides for, a no-vaccination policy. I have no hesitancy whatever in saying that, in my judgment, it would be a sad mistake for the State to thus change front on this most important matter.

Therefore, I respectfully return the bill to you without my approval.

Very respectfully,

GEO. C. PARDEE, Governor.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, March 10, 1905. }

To the Senate of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: The end of the thirty-sixth session of the California Legislature is at hand, and I gladly take advantage of the opportunity to congratulate you upon the completion of your labors and upon the solid and valuable results attained. In the sixty-eight days which the session has occupied you have dealt with a vast number of legislative matters, many of them of immense importance to the people, and it is my belief that no other Legislature has manifested greater industry or a more sincere desire to serve the State.

More than two thousand bills have been introduced in the two houses, besides a large number of resolutions and constitutional amendments, and, necessarily, time has been lacking to give many of these the mature consideration which they deserved; but the amount of business transacted is highly creditable, and I believe that very much of the legislation accomplished will be beneficial to the State.

In a number of instances policies have been initiated which are distinctly new departures and which, I am sure, will constitute a marked advance in the right direction.

Not least important among the measures of the session has been the legislation for the organization of a great drainage district in the Sacramento Valley, which is expected to lead to the control of the winter floods and the reclamation of over a million acres of fertile land. Other measures also tending toward industrial development on a large scale are but little less important, such as the arrangement to continue irrigation and other investigations through coöperative efforts by the State and Federal governments, the creation of a board of forestry, the cession of the Klamath Lake lands preparatory to the development of a large irrigation system in the northern part of the State, the making of appropriations to carry on horticultural, viticultural, and agricultural experiments and researches, and the purchase of a farm for the College of Agriculture. The part which the latter will play in the application of science to our leading industry and the solution of difficult problems of practical farming and animal husbandry is destined to be a great one.

A beginning has been made in the reformation of our revenue laws by the creation of a tax commission and the passage of the direct inheritance tax and life insurance tax and corporation license tax laws. These will raise a considerable amount of additional revenue during the next two years, and it is to be hoped that at its next session the Legislature will be prepared to take a longer step in the direction of an entire separation of State and local revenues.

You have taken another new departure in State finance by submitting to the people a constitutional amendment to authorize the deposit in banks, under careful safeguards, of State, county, and municipal funds, and also the enactment of a statute which may become operative as to deposit of State moneys even without the adoption of the amendment referred to. I believe it is sound public policy to get away from the old plan of locking up large amounts of the circulating medium during the first months following the collection of taxes, and also to secure to the State and counties a revenue from their unused funds. Again, this Legislature has passed Acts amending the banking, insurance, and building and loan laws in a manner to put these branches of business on an improved basis.

For the first time a Legislature has fairly grappled with the problem of prison reform. Many Acts have been passed which are intended to improve the condition of our penal institutions, and appropriations amounting to more than half a million dollars have been made for construction purposes at San Quentin and Folsom. When the moneys so generously provided have been expended California should have two modern-style prisons, lacking nothing in equipment to put them on a plane with the best penitentiaries in the country.

Another direction in which the Legislature has been justifiably liberal is in the appropriation of money to modernize our beautiful State Capitol building, which, nearly fifty years after its erection, still stands a credit to its builders, but which is much in need of interior renovation.

Of the many laws you have passed in the interest of public education, two of the most noteworthy are the statute providing for a more just method of distribution among the counties of the moneys raised by taxation for the support of the public schools, and the appropriation of $150,000 for the erection of a building for the San Francisco Normal School.

The State health laws have been revised and provision made for more careful and accurate work in collecting and compiling vital statistics.

Finally, I may mention as one of the greatest achievements of the session the passage of some two hundred code revision bills. The Civil and Penal Codes have thereby been revised and brought up to date, which is in itself a very desirable thing, but which becomes more remarkable when contrasted with the failure of previous attempts to enact this form of legislation.

In conclusion, I again congratulate the members of the Legislature upon the fruition of their labors and wish them pleasant journeys to their several homes.

Respectfully,

GEO. C. PARDEE, Governor.

REPORT OF ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE.
